When Peter Jackson released Heavenly Creatures, based on a famous 1950s matricide committed by two teenage girls in an obsessive relationship, the movie launched his international career and forever changed the life of Anne Perry. Perry had achieved extraordinary success as a crime writer but was now publicly outed as one of the murderers, Juliet Hulme. A new light was cast, not only on her life but also on her novels, which feature gruesome and violent deaths and confront dark issues, including infanticide and incest.

Four of these essays originally appeared in the author's: Papers from a Harvard/Yale man: examples of college work. New York: iUniverse, c2007.

In simple terms, his book encapsulates the entirety of the papers I wrote to meet the requirements of the MBA program through City University. I also received an A on every one of them. Of course there is more to an MBA program than just writing papers, but doing so is by far the most time consuming and involved. So if you are looking to see what an "A" paper looks like, want to get ideas for your next paper, or want to find out if an MBA is right for you, this is the book you want. Other books may tell you what an MBA program is LIKE, but this book tells you what an MBA program IS!
